TERM: Life insurance that doesn't break the bank

Term life insurance is generally a more budget-friendly option that's designed to provide pure death benefit protection for a set period of time, usually between 10 and 30 years. Term insurance is a good option if you:

Have a limited budget

Have a family with young children

Want to supplement an existing life
insurance policy

Have short-term
financial needs

MYTHS & FACTS

One of the most common myths about life insurance is around the cost. Two-thirds of consumers say they haven't bought life insurance because it's too expensive, yet they overestimate its true cost by more than double.¹

For instance, a 35-year-old could buy a policy for only $10 – 11 a month. That's about the same cost as three trips to the coffee shop.²

Protective Classic Choice term policy, 20-year guarantee, $100,000 death benefit. Premiums increase annually after the initial guaranteed premium period.

How Protective Classic Choice term works

With Protective Classic Choice term, you can choose the amount of life insurance coverage you need from one of the following term periods:

10
years

15
years

20
years

25
years

30
years

The death benefit on your policy will be guaranteed and you'll have the same recurring payment (known as a "premium") each year during your term period. If you decide to keep your policy after the term period ends, the policy premiums will increase annually but the death benefit amount will remain guaranteed.

The death benefit from your policy can help cover:

Funeral expenses

Outstanding debt

Mortgage and car payments

Household expenses

College tuition

Wedding
